To commemorate the release of the new edition of The Last Uniform, I had published a doujinshi of The Last Uniform (I didn't think that the small anthology would be published by this time...) You can apply by buying the two volumes of the new edition of The Last Uniform (Note: The application deadline was in 2011.) For details, please see the tankoubon! It also has a spectacular nosebleed.)

While I was still planning this, I asked for artwork from artist friends and acquaintances whom I ran into at Comiket, etc.! (I forcefully asked them after bumping into them in grilled meat stalls, maid cafes etc., laugh) The copies were all beautiful, thank you so very much. It fills my heart with joy to be able to receive depictions of my own characters... It's become a wonderful memory! Every time I think of it, my eyes tear up.

Even though Beniko and Tsumugi are on the front cover, this is a manga about Fuuko and Ai which I was somehow unable to get into the tankoubon. It had been put out once as a photocopy book (and was even temporarily available on the web) and was reprinted by request.

I am very happy to receive your impressions of the new edition on the site and on twitter. If I could also get your impressions of the doujinshi, I'd be grateful.

Well then, to the guest artists, Ashi-san who helped me with the tones, Sawada-san who gave me the cover design, everyone who cooperated in the production of The Last Uniform, and to all the readers who have taken this in hand, my gratitude.
